We are located near Lake Wallenpaupack in the rural Pocono Mountains – just a 2-hour drive from Philadelphia and 2 hours from NYC. Lake Wallenpaupack is a beautiful mountain lake with an abundance of wildlife, hiking and boating opportunities. Our 40-acre farm property located in South Sterling, PA in the bottom of a fertile valley. The barn originally built in 1839 by German settlers and reconstructed in 2017 by local Amish builders has a 54'x40' open floor plan – well suited for a reception. Max capacity is 200 people. There is a grand double barn door entrance with 2nd double barn door at opposite side of the barn to balcony overlooking cow pasture. Atop the barn is a bell tower with operational 175-year-old bell that can be heard across the farm and valley.

Our property is also a functioning farm - we have free range laying hens, pasture-based beef cattle, sheep, greenhouse, orchard and outdoor gardens.
